Reflection

After Paul had seen the vision, we got ready at once to leave for Macedonia, concluding that God had called us to preach the gospel to them. Acts 16:10

Paul remembers the churches that he helped to start and grow. Paul knows the value of strengthening faith communities, but he also follows the Spirit's direction. Stopped from going into one area, Paul obeys a vision from the Spirit and turns toward Macedonia. Paul seeks to be in step with God.

In Macedonia, God was already preparing the hearts of people when Paul showed up. For example, a woman named Lydia was already a worshiper of God when "the Lord opened her heart to respond to Paul's message" about Jesus. Even the resistance of a hardened jailer crumbled. Trembling before Paul and Silas, he asked, "What must I do to be saved?"

As we walk in this world, do we trust that the Spirit is going before us? What does it mean for you to be in step with God?
